Claims 1-11 call for, among others, the variable-gain amplifier circuit and the variable attenuator circuit are controlled according to a common AGC voltage that is set based on a level of an input RF signal, and operations of the variable-gain amplifier circuit and the variable attenuator circuit in relation to the AGC voltage are set such that when the input RF signal is at a maximum assumed level, a direct current that flows through the PIN diode is less than the predetermined value of a direct current that maximizes intermodulation distortion.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
